First Tomorrow.io Partnership Customer

Aeeris Ltd (ASX:AER) (Aeeris, or the Company) is pleased to announce that it has signed its first customer through its In Market Service Provider Agreement with The Tomorrow Companies Inc (Tomorrow.io), a global leader in resilience solutions, empowering organizations to thrive in the face of increasing climate volatility through advanced weather intelligence technology.

Aeeris's wholly owned subsidiary, Early Warning Network Pty Ltd (EWN), has partnered with US-based Tomorrow.io to sell Tomorrow.io's resilience platform and proprietary weather data in Australia. This partnership strengthens Aeeris' alerting and risk mitigation capabilities, further empowering Australian businesses to proactively manage weather risks with unprecedented precision.

Tomorrow.io employs artificial intelligence and machine learning to analyse its proprietary data and models together with precipitation data received from its growing network of radar satellites to provide hyperlocal monitoring, automated risk mitigation workflows, and unified threat visibility. Their detailed forecasting abilities are particularly beneficial in the transport and logistics sectors where operations can cover vast distances and remote areas and can be significantly impacted by weather. Traditional alerting abilities are limited by ground-based radar locations and the distance from them. Tomorrow.io's growing satellite network covers even the remotest of locations.

Aeeris offers its customers excellence in early environmental warnings and hazard reduction technologies to mitigate risk and protect people and assets. The collaboration with Tomorrow.io further enhances Aeeris' offering by providing superior accuracy, reach, and actionable insights for weather-related operational challenges.

Aeeris is pleased to be able to offer its customers these advanced capabilities to build resilience and drive business continuity. Signing its first Tomorrow.io customer demonstrates the potential demand for these new services.

This announcement has been approved and authorised for release by the Board of Aeeris Ltd.
